

Can Standards Improve Schools?

Written by Jennifer Dryer, Andréa Klein, and Judith Painter, MetLife Fellows in the Teachers Network Policy Institute (TNPI)

Works Cited

Dryer, J. (2003). ¿Can we talk? Getting students to use Spanish in a meaningful context by using the national standards for foreign language learning. New York: Teachers Network Policy Institute.

Education Commission of the States. (2001). The progress of education reform 1999-2001: Teaching quality. Denver, Co: Education Commission of the States.

Kohl, H. (moderator). (1999). Making education standards work for all students: A community conversation Retrieved July 31, 2003, from the University of San Francisco website: http://www.sfedfund.org/about/cc_standards.html.

Mizell, M. H. (2000). Watching for Mr. Hyde. Retrieved July 31, 2003, from: <http://www.middleweb.com/HMhyde.html>.